REMOVAL OF OLD CEMETERY

FTAHE Old Colonial Cemetery, at Wan-tsai, in the above Colony. having become surrounded by a dense population of Chinese of the poorer classes, it is found difficult to keep it in a condition of decency and eleauliness; it is THEREFORE NOTIFIED that it is proposed reverently and decently to remove all monuments and tombstones in such Cemetery, as well as all remains which may be found there, to the existing Colonial Cometery in the Happy Valley, where such remains will be re-interred. The manuments will be repaired and grouped round a plain memorial stone on which it will be stated from what part of the colony they have been removed.

Survivors, friends, or relatives who may desire to make any objection to this removal, are requested to address the Colonial Secretary of Hongkong within six months from this date. ' A list of the remaining monuments is ap-

An Indian up-country paper states that the escort accompanying the Angle-Slamese, or rather the Aprilo-Shan Siamese Boundary Commission, will probably include half a British battalion, and a mountain battery, the object view being two-fold, namely, to improve the Shan Chiefs and Siamese Government with the importance of the mission; and secondly, to be propared for any untoward eventualities which may arise, such as disaffection, or a sudden emeute, as there is still internecine warfare on a small scale going on amongst the petty chiefs in the remoter parts of the Shan country, where the effect ed itself. The debateable ground being very extensive, the fixing of the line of demarcation and the adjusting of the claims of the numerous rival Sawbana will occupy a desirof time and remission will not return before March next.

The Indian Stateman says:-Some of th newspapers are mentioning a rumour that "the Paningular and Oriental Steam Navigation Comof departure, leaving London for Southampton." This is, however, a good deal in advance of the actual facts. No decision of any kind has been made by the P. and O. Company; but it is notorious that Mr. Sutherland is indisposed to submit tamely to the present inconveniences and hindrances of the existing dock system in the port of Lendon; and the "rumour" is probably designed to assist the managers of the docks here to a more equitable spirit, to forestall an attempt to raise rates, and to evoke offers from Southampton interests. As between London and Southamiton as a port of departure, the advantages are very far from being all on one side, and a reversion to Southampton will not be lightly resolved upon.

The N. C. The ressal had her rudder smashed in a typhoon, and unfortunately for their chances of saving the ship, she was carried on to the reef in the middie of the night. A shift had been made to steer by means of a hawser, and had the weather moderated the ship might have been saved. It speaks well for the courage of the captain and his chief officer, the only Europeans on hoard, in saving all hands. Fortunately a fair wind carried them to Breaker Point. BEFORE MR. A. G. Wise, Acting Public

AUSTRO-HUNGA- IAN LLOYD'S STEAM-BRIP COMPANY Mr. Francis, Q.C. instructed by Messra, Sharp. Johnson and Stokes, was for the plaintiffs, and

and Deacon, for the defendants. Mr. Francis said this was a claim for $545.17 damages for breach of contract in the delivery among other things, of 97 cases of matches Company's steamer Ori at under the terms of a bill of lading dated the 6th June, 1889. The bill of lading was issued by the defendant Company and was signed by their agent. It was for 200 cases of matches shipped in Trieste to Hongkong to order. The cases were shipped in good order and condition, but on their arrival here, out of 200 cases.97 were found to be badly damaged, the marks being obliterated. The packages inside the cases were damaged, and in some instances the matches themselves were damaged. The bill of lading rather differed in form from that in use amongst English shippers. Among the conditions it stated that the company were liable for damage, loss, or injury to the goods except under certain circumstances, that was when the damage was caused by the not of God, by leakage, by correspondent of a Shanghai centemporary. He | waste, decay, &c. In this case the plaintiffs said those goods, were damaged and it was for the company to prove that these goods were damaged by one of the conditions which exempted them from liability. The goods were contracted to be sold by order before the arrival of the steamer, at $22.50 per case. On the arrival of the stenmer, the purchaser went to inspect the goods. He took away 103 cases but refused to take the others as they were damaged. These cases had been surveyed by Captain Burnie and other gentlemen, and he should be able to prove hat the goods were in a damaged condition, and it would then be for the defendants to prove that the damage was by reason of one of those causes which excepted them from liability. Paul Brevett said—I am salesman in Mes re. Siemasen & Co. I have been with them three years. I have been in business in Hongkong for eleven years. I have had large dealings in Vienna matches. 'It would mean not simply damage from leakage of the contents of the case itself. but also damage from leakage from other con-signments on board. Mr. Robinson then quoted having himself. several cases at considerable length to show what interpretation had been placed on the word " leakage." Proceeding, he said his next point was that there was nothing to show that this damage occurred on board the ship. Under the terms of the bill of lading the steamship Company's responsibility ceased as soon as they ar ived in the Harbour. The clause said that on the arrival of the steamer the goods should be deivered over the chip's side. If anything happened while the goods were in the cargo boat or on the wharf or in the Godown, the Company was not respon ible.

His Lordship said that would be so if Mr. Robinson proved that this damage occurred while the goods were in the godown. Mr. Robinson contended that it was not f him to prove that. The onus of proof rested on the other side. He then cited several cases to show that the contract having been made Austria for carrying these goods, the terms must be interpreted according to Austrian law. and failing any evidence as to what that law

Between 2 and 3 p.m. St. Croix and Wood led off for Shanghai against Coron and E. W. Maitland from the Mound, and Pavilion end respectively. The last ball of the left hander's first over lifted the off bail of St. Croix out of the groove on to the edge of the off wicket without actually removing it, a piece of scored 22. In Maitland's first over Wood was taken at point whilst Crawford was bowled by Coxon in his second over, making way for Stewart, the score standing at 2 wickets for 3 runs. tive overs F. Maitland replaced Smith and soon On the crack bat of the team taking up position Coxon went on at the Pavilion end and was not at work, he and Stewart playing the bowling freely and well. Bruce Robertson reached the tempting to snatch a second notch, the ball being smartly thrown in by F. Maitland and manipanow appeared, but succumbed almost immediately to Coxon. On Black's appearance a further stand ensued, which brought on Smith in lieu of (ampbell whose patient bowling had mot with no success. The change worked as the fast bowler's second delivery discompited Bruce Robertson, and later on Black meeting a breakback from the same bowler with the inside of his bat was unlucky in playing on. Black's runs were got by stubborn cricket. The remaining wickets fell for an addition of 5 runs, the total being 94. or 27 runs ahead. If we may venture a criticism without being deemed insubordinate, the only mistake made by Coron was in taking himself off when but few runs were being scored from him, and in not giving Smith an earlier turn at the Mound end. Of the 94 runs obtained only 38 were scored off these two buwlers for 6 wickets. whilst the other trundlers tried yielded 53 runs for 2 wickets. Though the all round fielding was creditable, special praise being due to Ram, whose consciences will not accuse them of brilliancy in this most important department of of the wicket, the Shanghai team were got rid of as cheaply as could be expected.

THE TRIAL OF LORD GALLOWAY.

LONDON, 14th October. At the Dumfries Sessions to day the harl of Galloway was put on his trial charge | with indecently assaulting a little girlnamed Gibson, elevenyears of age. The child in her evidence, testified to the assault which she alleged was committed whilst she was gathering blackb rries with some companions. These condrued the child's story. Mrs. Moffat, the chief witness for the prosecution, being called, said she heard the child call Lord Galloway a "dirty blackguard," but this witness's testimony differed somewhat from that of the children, Lord Galloway's d fence was that he simply helped the girl over a wall to enable her to gather blackberries.

After bearing counsel, the presiding judge summed up, and the jury returned a verdict of "Not Guilty," and the accused was accordingly

GOLD IN BENGAL. A correspondent writes to the Statesman as follows:-A paragraph on the above subject which lately appeared in your paper brings back to memory a few facts which may, even at this. late day, have their interest for those of your readers who are concerned in the contemplated search for gold in Chota Nagpers. More than twenty years ago I knew a man who much this very discovery. From his birth he could neither hear nor speak. Living in very bumble circumstances in the Midlend counties (England), he was seized while yet a young man, with what was called gold fever ; and with Plantingthis mania upon him, he left his home there and worked his passage to the Australian colonies in one of the numerous esiting ships. which made the voyage round the Capa of G od Hope from Sheland. Impelled by this same institet, he afterwards worked his passage to India and made his way to the northmest provinces, where I first fell in with him. The same instinct convinced him that he had overshot the mark, and that by some means or other he most work his way back to Bengal - stisff d that gold awaited him in the river-beds of Chota Nagpore. By the help of a friend (whom I also knew, but who has since died he was supplied with the means of usking the journey. Patiently parsning his object, his enthusiasm was duly rewarded. In the cold season of 1868 69 be diecovered a considerable quantity of gold in a mara or less pure state among the sand-beds of cavines and rivers in the wilder and less fr quented regions of that district. Samples of the discovery he submitted to Sir Richard Templet then. if I remember aright, Finance Minister in the council of Sir John Lawrence. The fact of the isoovery was admitted by Sir Rich rd Temple; but when the poor deaf-mute urged that owing to his poverty it was im, o sible for him to pursue the enterprise unaid d, he was informed that overnment had not sufficient funds to undertake it. The disappointed man, leth to leave what he had for so many years ondergone such great privations to discover, made another risit to the gold district, and having supplied himself with a larger quantity of samples left the district for ever ired of the era, he resolved to walk from India to his home in England. Taking the regular roads, he footed it the whole war, and on reaching Manchester he wrote a letter to his kind benefactor thanking him for his kin luess and assoring him of his safe arrival. That letter I saw and read Whether he wont through the Amit's territories or took another route. I do not know, the surprising thing is that a man who had no means whatever of communicating with the peoples through whose regions he passed succeeded so well in making his way. He had nothing whatever with him but the simple bundle of the English 'tramp,' and wes supplied with but the most meagre purse. Yet he never spoke of want. It speaks wonders for the natural kindness of the Asiatio races, that the man was always supplied, from village to a single complaint of unkindness or ill-usage. The case corroborates what has been so often noted, that the peoples of Asia hold in peculiar did indeed walk through the territory of the Afghans, he must have owed his safeguard to some such principle as that; for he made no pretence of disguise in the matter of clothing; and populations of Asia and eastern Europe.
